Celebrating the Greatest Generation: The 80 Raiders 80 Years After

BY DOUG STAUFFER

Okaloosa County was privileged April 18 to host history in the making. Almost 2,000 of us were blessed to say, "I was there to witness this historic event." This date marked the 80th anniversary of the World War II Doolittle Raiders bombing of Tokyo. Eighty men launched the first retaliatory strike against Japan's unprovoked attack upon America 80 years ago.

Lt. Col. James Doolittle (later a lieutenant general in the Army Air Forces and the Air Force Reserve) led the raid on Tokyo. The USS Hornet launched 16 B-25B Mitchell medium-range bombers, each carrying a crew of five men. They bombed Tokyo on April 18, 1942.

The raid was the first on Japanese soil, four months after their attack on Dec. 7, 1941, when 300 Japanese aircraft destroyed much of the Navy's Pacific Fleet in Pearl Harbor. The Doolittle Raid on the Japanese capital boosted American morale and exposed Japan's vulnerability from the air. Although the damage to Tokyo was minimal, many historians credit the raid as the critical factor in the Japanese defeat at the Battle of Midway – often cited as the turning point in the Pacific.

Since April 1947, a ceremonial "roll call" has honored the 80 Doolittle Raiders. Ted Cocoran, with the Greater Fort Walton Beach Chamber of Commerce, and Dr. Devin Stephenson of Northwest Florida State College (Home of the Raiders) played host to the "Final Doolittle Raiders Goblet" ceremony. It marked the passing of Doolittle Raider Col. (ret.) Richard E. "Dick" Cole. This event also celebrated the Air Force's 75th Anniversary by the Air Force Special Operations Command (AFSOC).

Ted's heart seems to skip a beat at the mention of the

Doolittle Raiders. Talking with him is like conversing with a Doolittle historian and cheerleader. One of Ted's many insights: "My awakening to the significance of the Raiders started in 2006. Since then, I have come to love the Raiders as a group and individually on a personal level. I am proud that the Chamber was able to bring the Raiders to this area in 2008, 2013, and finally in 2022. It is important to me to educate the community concerning their history by bringing the knowledge of the Raiders to the forefront. I am thrilled to have played my part in getting them to be relevant again in this area after being overlooked for far too long."

Okaloosa County and the Raiders: The Doolittle Raiders trained at Eglin field in 1942. Although the Army/Air Force had just been formed in 1941, AFSOC considers the Doolittle raid the first special operations mission. The Raiders held their 15th reunion here in 1957, and they returned in 1968 for their 26th reunion. They then vanished off our radars until Ed Horton (crew 10) moved to Fort Walton Beach. In the late 1990s, the local newspaper mentioned that Ed's wife had passed away, thus preventing him from attending future reunions.

Wes Fields, a gunner at Hurlburt Field and an auxiliary sheriff's deputy, read the newspaper article. He volunteered to transport Ed to future reunions. The Raiders honored Wes by making him director of Raider security. In 2006, Wes introduced Ed Horton to Ted Corcoran, who soon realized the significance of that encounter. Ted watched his relationship with the Raiders bud and blossom after attending the 2007 and 2008 Raider reunions.

In 2008, only eight of the 80 raiders remained, so the Chamber created a special event called "The Homecoming" on May 29-31, 2008. The Homecoming spawned the reintroduction and re-engagement of the Raiders with the Okaloosa County community. In 2013, Fort Walton Beach played host for the final reunion, and the five remaining Raiders attended.

The Goblets: For the annual reunion on April 18, 1959, the city of Tucson created 80 silver goblets. Each goblet bears a Raider's name, printed upright and upside down. At each reunion, the living Raiders toasted their fallen brethren. After a Raider passed, his goblet was inverted. A final toast with the last three Raiders took place in November 2013.

Two years later, Congress bestowed the Congressional Gold Medal upon the Doolittle Tokyo Raiders "for outstanding heroism, valor, skill, and service to the United States in conducting their bombings of Tokyo." The last living Raider, Col. (ret.) Dick Cole died on April 9, 2019, at 103 years old. He was co-pilot of the lead plane with Col. Doolittle. Covid delayed the Final Goblet Ceremony for several years, with the Fort Walton Beach Chamber chosen to host the event.

The Ceremony: The featured attendees at the Final Goblet Ceremony included the family of Col. Dick Cole, along with the other Doolittle Raider families. The historic ceremony was honored by the presence of the Air Force's top brass: Secretary of the Air Force Frank Kendall III; Chief of Staff of the Air Force Gen. CQ Brown, Jr.; Lt. Gen. Jim Slife, commander of Air Force Special Operations Command; and Lt. Gen. Brad Webb, commander of AETC. Secretary Kendall said of the Doolittle Raiders, "Like many of the greatest generation, they saw it as their duty and accepted it without any regret."

In recognition of the Air Force's 75th Anniversary, 16 local active-duty and distinguished veterans were honored to represent the legacy of each Doolittle crew and the contributions of fellow airmen to the rich history of the U.S. Air Force.

Lt. Col. (ret.) Rich Cole, son of Col. Richard E. "Dick" Cole, performed the ritual of turning over his father's goblet – the final goblet to be inverted. "The Cole family is deeply honored and appreciative of the Okaloosa County Community hosting the Goblet Ceremony for our Dad ...," he said. "We are thankful to celebrate this moment in the city where it all began." The National Museum of the U.S. Air Force at Wright

Patterson AFB in Ohio permanently displays the Goblets.

Later that evening, thousands of onlookers witnessed the historic beach flyover celebrating this momentous occasion. The aerial review took place over Okaloosa Island, featuring 30 vintage and current U.S. Air Force aircraft including a B-25 Mitchell bomber, a B-52 Stratofortress, an F-22 Raptor, an F-35 Lightning Stealth Fighter, a C-130 Hercules Transport, a CV-22 Osprey, a B1 Lancer Bomber, 2 F-15s and two Sikorsky UH-60 Black Hawk helicopters. Lt. Col. Cole piloted the lead plane.

The acts in PRESTO! have been seen on America's Got Talent, Britain's Got Talent, World's Best Magic, Champions of Magic, Masters of Illusion, The Late Show with David Letterman, The Late Show with Stephen Colbert and more.

Yu Hojin is one of the many unique talents that is featured at PRESTO! this summer and the Magic Parlor won't be the only stage he'll be on. Yu Hojin received word that he passed the initial auditions for this season of America's Got Talent and will be moving on to the live rounds. This season of America's Got Talent will premiere in June while Hojin is performing at PRESTO! He may have to sneak out to Vegas during this summer for a filming, depending on how far he goes in the competition. As he prepares for America's Got Talent, Hojin says he is eagerly awaiting his chance to show the world his story through his performance. "I've always wanted people to remember my name," Hojin says. "I am going to do my best to make people remember me".

A native of South Korea, Yu Hojin has been a visionary force in turning the world of magic into the world of artistic performance. At 8 years old, Hojin's participation in magic competitions were often followed by titles such as "The Youngest Competitor." He has won prizes in almost every international magic competition in the United States, Taiwan, Italy, Hong Kong and the United Kingdom. He's risen to international stardom as one of the first magicians to perform in the concert hall at the historic Sydney Opera House as well as the first Asian magician to perform on Broadway.

Hojin's act is more than just a magic show or illusion show – it's an opportunity to use magic to tell his own story. Through every trick, attendees learn more and more about Hojin and what he wants to say to his audiences. Hojin will be in Florida for the first time for PRESTO! He says it has always been a dream of his to visit Florida and Hawaii, and he is excited to cross one location off of his performance bucket list.

The show is hosted by David Williamson, who has been featured on ABC's Champions of Magic, CBS' Magician's Favorite Magicians, and NBC's World's Greatest Magic III, CW's Masters of Illusion and as a guest performer on America's Got Talent.

Additional performers include Chris Cox, the only mind-reader ever to have starred on Broadway, the Sydney Opera House and in London's West End and the star of Chris Cox's Mind-Boggling Magic (CBBC) and the award-winning Killer Magic (BBC Three) in the UK; The Great Kaplan, a modern-day vaudevillian master who has made numerous headliner appearances at the Magic Castle in Hollywood; and Pablo Canovas, an internationally-known, dynamic magician prodigy.

PRESTO! takes place in a beautiful imported antique theater from Belgium. Opulent palaces of red velvet and gold brocade, stained glass and deep mahogany, these European cabaret tents, known as spiegelgents (or mirror tents), were constructed in the 1910s by renowned craftsman Willem Klessens. It hosted dances, cabarets and celebrations throughout Europe for almost a century. About 35 of these remarkable structures exist, largely still seen throughout Europe.

You can see Hojin and the rest of PRESTO!'s amazing acts at the Magic Parlor through Aug. 28, with 10 shows per week at Destin Commons. Emerald Coast Autism Center Breaks Ground on Second Facility 'Emerald Coast Learning Center'

The new building will be located on the Northwest Florida State College Campus in Niceville

Emerald Coast Autism Center will break ground Wednesday, June 8, at 5 p.m., for Emerald Coast Learning Center, a new building located directly next to Emerald Coast Autism Center on the campus of Northwest Florida State College in Niceville. This second facility will provide a safe, structured learning environment for the nonprofit's Transition to Work program and its academic classrooms.

The new building plans include a 20,000-square-foot building connected to the current facility on the campus. This new building will contain the pre-vocational Transition to Work program through the Florida Department of Education in partnership with NWFSC, designed to teach older students job skills. The new building will also expand the nonprofit's academic classrooms.

"We are so excited for this next phase of ECAC," said Heidi

Blalock, CEO of Emerald Coast Autism Center. "The new building will help us grow with our students and their families by providing a space designed specifically to meet the needs of our vocational and academic students." Emerald Coast Learning Center will offer specialized facilities for vocational training, including a commercial kitchen, a laundry facility, Light It Up Brew (the organization's student-run coffee shop), a car wash, and more. TTW students will continue practicing job skills in-house before heading out on campus or other community partner job sites. ECLC will also house several academic classrooms for students on track to graduate from ECAC and continue with their education at other local public or private schools.

"Transition-to-Work (TTW) is a great opportunity for our clients," said Patrick Mills, Transition to Work Coordinator. "Each day our students practice vocational skills that will help prepare them for meaningful employment. The program focuses on independence, social skills development, and frequent changing of routines, to better assist in the transitions to the workforce." Currently, students work on campus in the following departments: Receiving (mail sorting and campus vehicle washing), Kay Litke Culinary Arts Greenhouse (planting, harvesting, and maintenance), Athletic Facilities (cleaning and organizing facilities) and the Mattie Kelly Arts Center (ushering at performances).

The organization plans to focus its current facility on younger students receiving one-to-one Applied Behavior Analysis therapy services. More information can be found at www.ecautismcenter.org or by calling (850) 279-3000.

Meet Our Hometown Hero Giselle McLaughlin

By KAY PHELAN

Meet 13-year-old Giselle McLaughlin, an eighth grade student at Liza Jackson Preparatory School in Ft. Walton Beach. Julie Porterfield, CEO of Emerald Coast Children's Advocacy Center (ECCAC), met Giselle at its Niceville Center when she presented a $280 donation check to Julie.

Giselle is taking an in-depth look at Florida foster care for her school "Graduation By Demonstration" (GBD) project. GBD is a process in which students undertake a major project that is of personal interest to them and may have a positive impact on their future career interests and decision making. The program is designed to take students out of their comfort zone, set goals and discover their interests. GBD culminates with a major presentation at school by each student about their project.

Taking on foster care as her GBD project, Giselle wanted to find a way to give back and create awareness of what children face. As it turns out, she has had first-hand experience in this area, coming very close to the foster care system. She was raised by her mother and step-father, both of whom were in the military. Unfortunately, in 2018, her mother took her own life. This caused a split-up of Giselle's siblings that included a younger brother and sister. In 2020, her step-father moved Giselle and her then 4-year-old sister to Northwest Florida to be closer to family. There was a brief stint in Texas and then back to Northwest Florida because of unpredictable circumstances. Last August, Giselle was taken in by their great aunt and uncle in Fort Walton Beach, passionate relatives who really understood the situation. Several weeks ago, Giselle was officially adopted by these kind relatives. Although her siblings do not live with her, they are all close and communicate frequently.

"Throughout this period of instability after the loss of my mother, in sixth and seventh grade, I felt like I had no purpose in life," Giselle said. "But then once my great aunt and uncle stepped into my life, things began to normalize for me. Now I am so happy at Liza Jackson Prep School and involved with so many school activities."

With a shortage of foster parents in Walton, Okaloosa, Santa Rosa and Escambia counties, one now understands this teenager's avid interest in taking on this subject. Because of Giselle's foster care research for her school's project, she became aware of ECCAC.

Giselle has been very impressed with the many child-friendly services the non-profit organization provides for kids and their families dealing with abuse and neglect situations. In a couple of years, she hopes to volunteer at the Niceville Center saying, "I would love to stay involved, and hope I can give insight to other kids. It is a really nice thing ECCAC does for kids dealing with so many problems."

"It has been our pleasure to meet Giselle and acquaint her with our operation," Julie said. "She is a passionate and caring young lady. I'm certain she will do an impressive job with her GBD presentation. Who knows, maybe one day Giselle will be an important ECCAC staff member!"

ECCAC provides services in a child-friendly environment to help identify, treat and support children in abusive situations, as well as helping to prevent child abuse through education and prevention programs. With a center in Okaloosa County and the Pierce Family Center in Walton County, it houses representatives from the Florida Department of Children and Families, Child Protection Team, State Attorney's Office, local law enforcement, licensed mental health counselors and ECCAC's staff and volunteers. In ECCAC's 23-year history, more than 15,000 children have received more than 170,000 services at no cost.

For further information about the Emerald Coast Children's Advocacy Center, visit www.eccac.org. If abuse is suspected, call the anonymous Florida Abuse Hotline at 1-800-96-ABUSE.

Twin Cities Woman's Club Says Goodbye After 39 Years Serving the Community

By RHONDA DAVIS

Just one year shy of its 40th anniversary, the Twin Cities Woman's Club recently voted to dissolve. After the last official luncheon May 25 and upon conclusion of all business responsibilities for the fiscal year 2021-2022, the club will cease to exist.

"Dissolving the woman's club was not an easy decision," says Kissy Gordon, current TCWC president. "Many of the members have known each other for years and worked hard to make a difference in our community. Burnout, age, illness, death, relocations and covid paid a toll on the organization."

The Club was originally part of the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs. It met April 10, 1983, under the guidance of the Fort Walton Beach Woman's Club to compose bylaws.

The installation ceremony took place May 6, 1983. Charter officers were installed at a ceremony at the Greenhouse in Bluewater Bay. Charter officers were: president, Dot Rivers; vice president, Jane Neiner; secretary, Virginia Crisafulli, and treasurer, Sue Brown.

Members were Sue Brown, Virginia Crisafulli, Sammie Davis, Helen Fritsch, Sara Harris, Evelyn Hollfelder, Gwen Jones, Charlotte Lane, Jane Neiner, Pat Olesak, Midge Reagan, Dot Rivers, Jean Schuller, Roma Shipley and Patsy Taylor. Sue Brown, Virginia Crisafulli and Sammie Davis are still members.

Since its incorporation, the community may remember these 20 women who served as president, with several serving more than one term: Dot Rivers, Carmelita Neal, Charlotte Lane, Jean Waite, Sue U. Brown, Libby Guzzetta, Lee Johnson, Roma Shipley, Glenda Hudkins, Alyce Katouch, Midge Cook, Jo Ann Dunnam, Annie Fair, Sharon Wade, Barbara Dunn, Dale Fuqua, Lillian Lewis, Lorraine Phillips, Roxanne Anthony and Kissy Gordon.

"The Twin Cities Woman's Club was such a great group of ladies to work with. We visited the Florida State Capitol and saw politics in action. We attended Woman's Club Conventions in Orlando. What fun we had," said Jo Ann Dunnam, longtime member and a former club president.

In 2010, the members chose to leave the Federation in order to devote more time and resources to local community charities.

Throughout their 39 years, the TCWC held many fundraisers such as fashion shows, bake sales, bunco events and poinsettia plant sales. Members also had tables at the annual Methodist Church bazaar where they sold handcrafted items in support of the club's charitable causes. All this took countless hours of planning and hard work to acquire locations, set-up, door prizes and everything else that goes into creating a productive fundraiser.

"Over the years the favorite charity of the club has always been the TCWC Memorial Scholarship to honor the memory of all deceased TCWC members," said Dale Fuqua, TCWC treasurer and a former TCWC president. "The scholarship started out in 1989 as assistance to a displaced homemaker with books and tuition at Okaloosa Walton Junior College. Just as the community college grew into Northwest Florida State College, the scholarship fund

Gov. DeSantis Awards $3.2 Million for Okaloosa County Manufacturing

Gov. Ron DeSantis awarded $3.2 million to Okaloosa County through the Florida Job Growth Grant Fund to expand roads, rail lines and utility infrastructure at the Shoal River Ranch, an industrial mega site, which is expected to bring more than 11,000 jobs to the region. This will more than double the current number of manufacturing jobs in the area, bringing trades and workforce education, will help us achieve this goal,” said DeSantis.

“This funding will support economic development in Okaloosa County by creating available, ready-to-access sites for industrial development, which will have lasting impacts throughout the region,” said Florida Department of Economic Opportunity Secretary Dane Eagle.

missioners, Mel Ponder. “There is nothing else this size, with this much access to a major interstate, in Florida. Opportunities at this site will create thousands of jobs in multiple sectors, another great win as we diversify our local economy. This opportunity will be transformational for our area.”

Florida Gulf & Atlantic Railroad. The site is projected to make an economic impact of more than $47.6 million after infrastructure improvements are made.

grew to become the Twin Cities Woman’s Club Scholarship Endowment.” As of 2021, the Club has awarded more than $215,700 to the program. This year, the club plans to contribute another $5,000.

In a 2018 article in the Northwest Florida Daily News, charter member Roma Shipley, also a former TCWC president, reminisced, “Over the years, various interest groups were formed to concentrate on fundraising for special projects or to present fun opportunities for members. Bridge and bunco groups were formed. We had great fun parties at Christmas. We picked up trash on our roads. We decorated and partied and sang with the residents at Twin Cities Pavilion and other care facilities in our community. We entered our arts and crafts in competitions. We participated in Christmas parades. We wrapped presents. We collected items for non-profit organizations. We made things for the girls at Hacienda Girls Ranch. We helped out wherever we were needed.”

Since 2009 club members met every summer to turn and tie ditty bags, which were sewn by Dale Fuqua. Each year more than 700 ditty bags were donated to the Mental Health Association of Okaloosa and Walton Counties. The bags were filled with various personal care and other items, and distributed to clients for Christmas Project Cheer and the Veterans Stand Down.

The Twin Cities Pavilion received particular attention by the club’s special projects committee. Almost every year the committee hosted Christmas tree decoration parties whereby members decorated the Pavilion’s Christmas trees and provided refreshments for the residents. St. Patrick’s Day bingo parties were held every March; and each month a variety of snacks and beverages were donated for residents to enjoy. In

Make Plans to Attend the Upcoming Lincoln Dinner

Florida Attorney General Ashley Moody will be the keynote speaker at the Okaloosa County Republican Executive Committee's annual Lincoln Dinner Friday, July 15, at the Island Resort, Fort Walton Beach. She is a fifth generation Floridian from Plant City. She earned her bachelor's and master's degrees in accounting and her law degree from the University of Florida and later earned a masters of law in international law from Stetson University College of Law. Moody began her legal career practicing commercial litigation. Later she joined the U.S. Attorney's Office, prosecuting drug, firearm and fraud offenses. In 2006, at the age of 31, she became the youngest judge in Florida.

Since taking office, Moody has been recognized as a national leader having served as a Commissioner on the Presidential Commission on Law Enforcement and the Administration of Justice. She serves as Chair of Florida's Statewide Council on Human Trafficking. She will run for re-election this November alongside Gov. Ron DeSantis.

For more information on the Lincoln Dinner and to obtain tickets, visit Okaloosagop.com or contact OCREC Chair Sandra Atkinson at (850) 543-8742 or OCREC Vice Chair Cheryl Stubbs at (850) 797-3605 or Diana Gilbert at (850) 897-2592.

addition to these activities, the club made annual monetary donations.

Fuqua said, "A few years ago, I did some research in back records to see how much money the club has donated to non-profits. In looking through the records to see what needs to be kept with the archives, I found my worksheet again. The grand total on that sheet is $406,626! And if things go as planned the amount should increase by at least $6,000 by the end of May."

"That number only shows the funds that were recorded in our books," Fuqua continued. "It doesn't reflect the countless hours of work, the personal funds or the in-kind/sharing cart contributions (such as supplies, food, toys, etc.) made by our members that did not flow through our bookkeeping system. The 'areas of interest' section of our yearbook tells some of the story of our contribution to our community over the last 39 years. It tells of the $323,955 raised by our 'Spirit Award'-winning TCWC Team for the American Cancer Society Relay for Life. That money did not flow through our books. Nor did the contributions raised for many years by our members for the American Heart Association Heart Walk. So, if you think of all that did not go through our books you know that we can really be proud of the support that Twin Cities Woman's Club has given our community." Since its founding, the TCWC has donated to more than 43 national, state and local charities, including A Family's Future, Alaqua Animal Shelter, American Cancer Society/Relay for Life, American Heart Association/Heart Walk, CALM House in Niceville, Camp Monarch, Canine Companions, Children in Crisis, Covenant Hospice, DVDs 4Vets, Emerald Coast Children's Advocacy Center, Emerald Coast Wildlife Refuge, Fisher House, Habitat for Humanity, Hacienda Girls Ranch, Healing Paws for Warriors, Heritage Museum of Northwest Florida, Hugh O'Brian Youth Leadership, Mental Health Association of Okaloosa and Walton Counties, Niceville Children's Park, Niceville Eagle Band Uniforms, Niceville Fireworks Fund, Niceville Valparaiso Chamber of Commerce Fireworks, Niceville Valparaiso Chamber of Commerce Student, Oasis, Okaloosa County Council on Aging/Meals on Wheels, Operation Paperback for Deployed Military, Project Graduation, Rock Camp, Safe Connections, Salvation Army, Sew Much Comfort, Sharing and Caring of Niceville, Shelter House, Special Olympics, Take Stock in Children, Twin Cities Woman's Club Scholarship Endowment, Turtle Watch, Twin Cities Honor Choir, Twin Cities Pavilion Assisted Living Facility, USO, Waterfront Mission, and the Youth Symphony.

Off the Hook

Off the Hook:

Record Breaking Tuna Caught Off Destin's Shores

BY CALI HVALAC,
TO DO IN DESTIN

Easter morning started off differently for one local charter boat called the "NoName," as it hooked up the largest Bluefin Tuna ever caught off the Florida shore. The team, led by Captain Jacob "Jake" Matney, set out for a weekend of Marlin fishing when they hooked into the massive fish 160 miles offshore. It took all five anglers fighting for a full 4.5 hours to land it to the boat. "Fishing has always been a way of life for my family and something that we love to do together," said Captain Jake. "I'm very fortunate to have them on the boat for this and to have this caliber of fisherman on my team."

This catch breaks the current state record of 826.5lb tuna caught by Rick Whitley in 2017. But, it might not make the record books based on a technicality. In order for a fishing record to be certified, it needs to be reeled in by one angler. As for this monster catch, the "whole team" is listed as the angler, since all five took a turn on the rod.

The 832.2 lb. tuna measured 113.5" long and 86" around the girth. Record or not, it will still be the largest fish caught offshore in our state.

On board the boat was Captain "Jake", his wife Jennifer, their two boys Jacob and Jeremiah, first mate Jett Tolbert and deck mate Devin Sarver. None of them expected to hook such a massive fish, and it is definitely the fish of a lifetime.

"To be a part of this with such an incredible team of people is truly a blessing. I will think about this as long as I'm kicking and smile from ear to ear," said Devin. "My parents had a rod in my hand fishing off the dock before I could walk, so they tell me. This is what dreams are made of. I love this way of life. GOD is great! Still seems surreal. Epic!"

Jett said, "We were Stoked to finally land one that we could bring in and hang up. It's harder than people think. Last trip we fought one for 10 hours and it broke off. So, bringing in this one meant a lot to me. I love fishing and am thankful for an awesome boss. I plan to travel the world and fish my whole life; it's my passion."

FWC Announces 2022 Lionfish Challenge

The Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission

announces the 2022 Lionfish Challenge tournament, which ends Sept. 6. The Lionfish Challenge is a summer-long lionfish tournament open to competitors around Florida. The goal

Destin-Fort Walton Beach Hosts World's Largest Lionfish Tournament

By APRIL SARVER,
OKALOOSA COUNTY PIO

Congratulations! Divers participating in the 4th Annual Emerald Coast Open Lionfish Tournament successfully removed 13,835 lionfish from local waters. The invasive species prey on native fish and have no known predators due to their venomous spines. Hosted by Destin-Fort Walton Beach, alongside Florida Fish and Wildlife at HarborWalk Village and AJ's Seafood & Oyster Bar, this event is a key component in mitigating the risk of a growing lionfish threat.

"We are fortunate to have a Coastal Resources Division in our community, focused on awareness and reducing the population of this invasive species," said Okaloosa Board of County Commissioners Chairman Mel Ponder.

Divers from all over the country traveled to Destin-Fort Walton Beach for the spearfishing tournament held on May 13th and 14th. An award ceremony was held on Sunday announcing the winners of various categories including most lionfish removed, largest and smallest. The record for the smallest lionfish was broken at 39 millimeters during the main tournament by Alabama Jammin. Diver Tim Shivers collected 604 lionfish during the pre-tournament which surpassed the 2019 record. Thanks to Emerald Coast Open sponsors, participants were awarded $48,000 in cash and approximately $50,000 in prizes. View a list of this year's winners @EmeraldCoastOpen on Facebook.

Several events were held over the weekend in conjunction with the tournament including The Lionfish Removal & Awareness Day Festival hosted with Florida Fish and Wildlife which garnered 5,000 attendees. Over 40 vendors were in attendance with educational activities that focused on conservation efforts. Lionfish & Libations was a new event held at HarborWalk Village. These events allowed locals and visitors to learn about lionfish and even have the chance to experience tastings.

Emerald Coast Open Lionfish Restaurant Week was held the week leading up to the tournament. Each evening, a local restaurant served a unique lionfish dish on their menu. The fish caught pre-tournament were provided to the participating restaurants to serve. The lionfish dishes were scored by a host of judges including a New Yorker Magazine journalist and Chief Scientist for NOAA National Marine Sanctuaries. A scoring system was used and Chef Al Massa took the highest marks with Brotula's Seafood House & Steamer creation. They presented a Lionfish Pan-Seared dish with Black Forbidden Rice, Melting Zucchini Ribbons, with a Chardonnay Shellfish butter.

"We couldn't be happier with the success of this year's Emerald Coast Open Tournament with 145 tournament participants and 50 volunteers donating their time. Thank you to our sponsors for their support that continues the growth of the tournament and the education of lionfish management. The removal of this many lionfish from our local water restores the ecosystem, especially as we head into a busy fishing season," said Alex Fogg, Coastal Resource Manager, Destin-Fort Walton Beach.

Destin-Fort Walton Beach Implements New Beach Safety Measures

Okaloosa County has launched new beach safety measures in partnership with Okaloosa County Beach Safety and Destin Fire Control District. The initiatives include a synchronized beach warning flag selection across all guarded beaches in Destin-Fort Walton Beach, a text alert system and GPS-mapped signage to help first responders reach emergencies most efficiently.

"The safety of our residents and guests is paramount. The new measures will increase awareness of the beach flag warning system and will make emergency response even more efficient," said Okaloosa Board of County Commissioners Chairman, Mel Ponder.

A universal Beach Flag Warning Program was adopted by communities across the state of Florida in 2005. Destin-Fort Walton Beach is no exception to this universal system. Differences in flag colors, sizes and symbols can confuse beachgoers so beach safety teams across the state post a beach warning flag, based on trained observations. In the past, observations may have prompted a different warning flag to be posted at beaches within Destin city limits than the flag selection for unincorporated Okaloosa County. To further improve the effectiveness of Beach Safety; Okaloosa County, City of Destin and Henderson Beach State Park will now post a synchronized beach warning flag based on conditions observed.

Because of the consistent flag selection across all of Destin-Fort Walton Beach, a daily text messaging system has been made possible. Locals and visitors are encouraged to text "BEACH" to 44144 for a consolidated, daily beach warning flag update for Okaloosa Island, Henderson Beach State Park and City of Destin public beaches guarded by Destin Fire Control District.

In addition to the beach flag messaging system, individually numbered R-Signs were installed near the dunes as part of the Destin-Fort Walton Beach Wayfinder Network. The signs act as reference points for beach-goers who call 911, to notify first responders of their location during an emergency. The first signs were installed every 500 feet, along a three-mile stretch of Okaloosa Island beaches, with plans to expand throughout Okaloosa County. The GPS coordinates of each sign are registered with first responders so they can effectively locate those calling 911.

"It has been five years in the making and we hope these efforts will assist our local dispatch in quickly responding to emergency situations and keep our residents and guests safe," said Jennifer Adams, Director, Destin-Fort Walton Beach Tourism.

Gulfarium C.A.R.E. Center Releases Four Rehabilitated Sea Turtles

The Gulfarium's C.A.R.E. Center successfully released four rehabilitated sea turtles on Thursday, May 12, 2022, at Inlet Beach.

It was a beautiful morning as crowds gathered to watch the endangered turtles head back into the Gulf of Mexico. All of the rehabilitated sea turtles had fallen victim to fishing hook related injuries. One of the turtles was outfitted with a satellite tag for the release.

Jamie, a large adult female loggerhead weighing 208lbs, had been outfitted with a satellite tag by the United States Geological Survey team for a tracking research project prior to release. She was accidentally hooked at Navarre Beach weeks to ensure all was well and after being cleared for release, he was ready to head back into the Gulf of Mexico. This was Sheldon's second visit to the C.A.R.E. Center for rehabilitation.

Pluto arrived at the C.A.R.E. Center on May 10, 2022, after being foul hooked by a fisherman at Navarre Beach Fishing Pier. This sub-adult loggerhead weighs 90lbs and had unremarkable blood work and clear radiographs upon arrival at the center, so was medically cleared for release by the veterinary team once the hook was removed. This was Pluto's third visit to the Gulfarium C.A.R.E. Center.

Shirley, a sub-adult Kemp's ridley sea turtle, who was hooked in the mouth with a J-hook on May 8, 2022, at Navarre Beach Fishing Pier was also released. Shirley weighed in at 56lbs and had a very quick stay at the Gulfarium C.A.R.E. Center. With unremarkable blood work and radiographs, she was deemed medically cleared for release by the center's veterinary team.

"Release days are always extremely rewarding," states Tabitha Siegfried, Stranding Coordinator for the Gulfarium C.A.R.E. Center. "We are very excited to be participating in a research project that includes a satellite tag as all sea turtle species are endangered so any help that we can provide to these animals is crucial."

If you see a sea turtle in distress, injured, or deceased please report it to Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission immediately at 1-888-404-FWCC (1-888-404-3922).

Follow the C.A.R.E. Center on Facebook to learn more about sea turtles and the center's rehabilitation efforts. The C.A.R.E. Center and its patients can be visited as part of a general admission ticket to Gulfarium Marine Adventure Park.

The Gulfarium CARE Foundation, a 501(c)(3) non-profit, is proud to act as a beacon for coastal conservation through marine animal rescue and rehabilitation. Donations are tax-deductible and can be made online on the C.A.R.E. Center's webpage.

Fishing Pier on Nov. 20, 2021. X-rays showed that she had a large circle hook in her proximal esophagus and a small treble hook further down. Jamie underwent a four-hour surgery on Nov. 22, to remove both hooks. After the surgery was complete, the recovery phase was very extensive. However, after a seven-month long stay at the C.A.R.E. Center, she was finally ready to be released. The satellite tag will allow researchers to monitor Jamie's movements and track where she travels and how long she spends at each location. This equipment is part of an ongoing, long-term research project to determine the movement patterns of repeatedly hooked sea turtles at local fishing piers. This was Jamie's third time being foul hooked at the same pier - she is an excellent candidate for this project.

The other three turtles that headed back into the Gulf of Mexico included Sheldon, a sub-adult loggerhead weighing in at 79lbs, who was foul hooked with a cobia jig in the right front flipper on April 18, 2022. Following the initial intake procedure, Sheldon's X-rays showed a large hook embedded in his tongue. After mild sedation, the hook was successfully removed. Sheldon was under observation by our veterinary team for a few

Tell Your Mom You Love Her

BY DR. RICHARD CHERN, MD

To all the moms out there reading, thank you for working to the point of exhaustion, worrying to the point of tears, supporting us through our good decisions and bad, and loving us even when we do our best to push you away. I'm sorry it takes so many years for us to understand everything you do for us and some of us never get to understand the suffering you go through as a mom.

In honor of our moms continually, not only on Mother's Day each year, I would like to let you know how to help her feel better and live a longer and healthier life all year. As moms get older they start losing the hormones that protect them from disease.

At some point mom's estrogen levels start falling. This leads to difficulty falling asleep at night and also leads to moms waking up too early in the morning. The lack of sleep increases mom's stress levels and makes moms more irritable as well as increasing the risk for Alzheimer's and other diseases.

Falling testosterone levels in moms leads to physical exhaustion, moodiness and also increases the risk for strokes, heart attacks and breast cancer, which are the top three ways moms die. Nobody wants his mom to die. Adding testosterone to moms who have hit menopause will greatly reduce their risk of getting breast cancer. Moms don't like breast cancer and giving testosterone to moms is one of the best ways to prevent breast cancer.

Failing thyroids lead to weight gain, loss of mental clarity, coarse hair, increased cholesterol levels and increasing sugar levels. Just so you know, moms hate gaining weight and hate coarse hair. They also don't like having to take medications. Just so you know, ironically, increasing sugar levels in moms does not make them sweeter.

I know you want your mom and the other moms you know to live as long as possible and be as healthy as possible so you can get as many hugs and kisses as you want whether you deserve them or not. So, make sure you let your mom know about us and how we can help her live a longer, happier, and healthier life.

Moms, we love you more than we could ever tell you and more than we could ever show. The crazy thing is that no matter how much we love you, I'm sure you love us more.

The Implant Truth Survivors Committee Offers Hope

By MICHELLE RUSCHMAN

If you've ever shared the road with the TITS Mobile, you may have wondered how Anne Ziegenhorn, the founder of The Implant Truth Survivors Committee (TITS), came to drive such an iconic car. Even as she shares the name with a wink and a smile, Anne wants you to know she's passionate about her organization's mission: advocating for women who have suffered dangerous repercussions from their breast implants.

Long before she became an international hero helping women get their explants, Anne lived through dangerous silicon poisoning from her own implants for more than a decade. In the '90s she was a 20-year-old working as a plastic surgeon scrub tech during a time when silicone implants were considered safe. Anne decided to go through her own procedure to equalize her uneven breasts.

"My first set was silicone gel," she said. "Back then we were told they were safe and the manufacturing representative showed us the studies. Five or six years later, silicone gel went on a moratorium and nobody could get it because too many women complained of becoming ill. The companies came back and told those of us in the industry they would give us a free set of saline so I switched mine out from silicone gel to saline breast implants, believing again that they were safe again. Within a few months, I started getting headaches, but brain scans didn't reveal the problem."

With the new studies supporting saline implants, plastic surgery professionals didn't question that while women traded in their silicone gel for saline, the shell of the implant was still made of silicone and Anne got sicker and sicker.

"Around the age of 28, my skin started breaking out," she said. "I'd had flawless skin my entire life and my dermatologist couldn't clear this weird acne. Never thinking this was related to my implants, I tried all kinds of medicine and it didn't clear up. I would also be slow to heal if I got a sore or cut. I started developing food allergies and became severely allergic to latex. I didn't realize breast implants had a direct link to your hormones and they've been able to prove that they have a hormone disruptor to them. I started miscarrying babies. This imbalance in my hormones also caused fatigue, anxiety, and depression.

"All of a sudden, I had a thyroid issue," she continued. "Now I have open wounds, breakouts on my face, and this underlying headache that never goes away. I've miscarried multiple times. I finally had two babies back to back that I carried to term but I swelled up so bad. I gained 90 pounds with my daughter and I gained 104 with my son. It was very hard for me to lose the weight but eventually, I did. All of a sudden, the swelling and weight gain started again. My swelling could be compared to the Michelin man. I had extra rolls all over my body and there were still open wounds, and sores on my feet. It got to the point I couldn't walk. My sex drive decreased and my breasts became so sensitive that my nerves hurt and I couldn't face a shower. My vision was going and I started to lose my voice. I sounded so strange, and it hurt my throat to speak. It was excruciating just to think about forming a word so I learned to control myself and appeared to be in a vegetative state. I communicated by typing on my phone or writing on a whiteboard."

Because the doctors didn't consider the implants could be the cause, Anne went through irreversible procedures, in the hopes each one would be the cure she was so desperately seeking. Over several years, Anne would go through a thyroid ablation, her gallbladder was removed, and her ovaries were taken. She finally drew the line at suggesting she needed a liver transplant. Anne knew in her gut that these weren't the solutions she needed but with her voice gone, it was hard for her to communicate.

With the severity of her breast pain, the Mayo clinic finally asked Anne if she'd had a mammogram. For 12 years, yes, she'd faithfully gotten the screening, and each year she was told the results were normal. Anne would find out later that her most recent screenings were not normal.

On her lowest day, Anne went to see her endocrinologist and got devastating news.

"He couldn't believe I'd been able to shuffle in," she said. "He said, 'I expected to see a very frail woman because according to your lab work, you have about two weeks to live and I suggest you get your affairs in order.' He then asked me what vitamins I was taking so I wrote down that I was taking four times the recommended amount of potassium and magnesium. He let me know it was the only thing saving my life and asked me, 'Who told you to take that much?' It was God."

Anne went home that day being told she wouldn't be alive much longer but she refused to accept it. Her God was bigger than that.

Anne prayed for answers and the next day felt compelled to do a self-breast exam.

"As soon as I lifted my arm, I felt a whoosh, and warm water released into my body," she Carbs are everywhere and necessary for our health. However, the carbs we choose can affect our gut health, immune system, cholesterol levels, blood sugar and energy. So, let's learn a little about them.

Definition: (carbo-hydrate) A large group of organic compounds occurring in foods and living tissues, including sugar, starch and cellulose. They contain carbon, hydrogen and oxygen (1:2:1). This can vary depending on the type of carb. They are broken down in the body to release energy.

Carbs are an essential ener-

Carbohydrates, Our Friend and Enemy

gy source, vital for good health. They convert to sugar (glycogen), which supplies energy to our bodies. There are two types of carbs:

Complex: These are polysaccharides and contain at least three glucose molecules. They are found in foods high in fiber and starch. They take longer to digest and contain important vitamins, minerals, probiotics and antioxidants. Complex carbs help to maintain healthy blood sugar levels.

Simple: These carbs only contain one or two molecules and are referred to as monosaccharides and disaccharides. These contain naturally occurring or added sugars and are digested quickly. These simple carbs tend to raise blood sugar levels.

Processed carbs like crackers and chips lack essential nutrients such as fiber and vitamins. When grains are processed the bran and germ is removed (fiber) along with the vitamins and minerals leaving little to no nutritional value. What they add back is sugar, sodium and pre-servatives, none of which the body recognizes or needs.

Complex carbs consist of vegetables, legumes (beans), nuts and seeds, tubers (sweet potatoes and white potatoes (red is more beneficial) and whole grains (oats, quinoa, brown rice, barley, etc.). The healthiest wheat to look for is Stone Ground Whole Wheat or Sprouted Whole Grain. Simple carbs, on the other hand, consist of fruit juices, milk, white flour, white rice, sugar and soda. Fruit is also in this category but because it is high in fiber and has natural sugars it is a beneficial option.

Fiber, both soluble and insoluble, is vital for maintaining a healthy gut. The soluble fiber (found in popular over the counter fiber supplements) binds to cholesterol and sugar mitigating its release into the bloodstream whereas insoluble fiber is responsible for reducing incidences of constipation and protecting against colon cancer (This is usually not found in popular over-the-counter fiber supplements).

Begin substituting healthy

carbs for processed carbs. Brown rice pasta vs white pasta, gluten free crackers vs regular processed crackers (in moderation), whole rolled oats vs quick oats, etc. Add barley to homemade vegetable soup, add nuts, seeds and fresh fruit to plain greek yogurt. Use mashed avocados as a spread instead of mayo on sandwiches.

Feel free to reach out if you have questions or something specific you need help with.

ant Holistic Detox series this month. Registered Holistic Nutritionist Linda Murphy, RHN/NPP will share the importance of spring detoxing our bodies and the benefits it provides. These sessions are free. To attend these invitation-only events, email me using May Series in the subject line.

said. "As I looked, sure enough, my breast was the shape of a ski slope and I knew my implant had ruptured. I thought, 'Oh my God. This is what's making me sick.'"

As the implant lay crumpled in her breast, Anne began to gain energy within hours.

"Even with the bad news I'd gotten, I had a mammogram scheduled that Monday so I went," she said. "I wrote on my whiteboard that I thought I'd ruptured an implant and after they did the film, it was confirmed."

The technician also told Anne they'd seen the leak two years earlier. Anne had been complaining about breast pain for five years but her results kept showing normal and not one person told her the implant was leaking.

Anne was advised by an attorney to show up at the clinic the next day and ask for all of her films. What Anne saw was anything but normal. Year after year, she could see something growing in her implant. It was rare to be able to see something like this on film but what Anne saw was mold.

When Anne had her implant removed, there was a brown liquid still at the bottom. Not only were there mold spores in the liquid, but the valve had also been faulty. Upon removal, Anne's health began to significantly improve.

As a survivor and advocate, Anne wants women to know this information if they're considering getting implants: "Women get sick from the silicone shell because they have 11 heavy metals and chemicals like formaldehyde and printer ink. I stress that all implants have the same silicone shell. Women are told saline is safe but if you're sick from silicone, there is a possibility you'll also get latex sensitivity, silicone toxicity and heavy metal toxicity. We also typically have some form of bacterial infection and/or fungal and yeast infections because saline implants can be a breeding ground. The implant manufacturers knew this and did not tell us.

"The capsule, or the scar tissue that forms around the implant, also needs to be removed because it's touched the shell of the implant," she said. "I already had poison sitting in my body, and then put fresh poison on top of it (with a new implant). That's why I get sick quicker. I have a capsule inside of me that already has poison."

Anne and her co-founder, Paula Blades, went to the FDA to offer their findings and were told they could fill out a form to share their "adverse event." The friends formed the TITS Committee when the FDA told them they couldn't be seen unless they were on a committee. Done.

Today, the TITS Committee is committed to sharing their personal experiences to educate men, women, medical professionals and insurance companies. They also help ladies with their insurance to cover explants and raise money to get explants done. The organization pays the surgeon directly once a patient is approved.

If you have any additional questions about implants, you're seeking assistance in getting an explant, or you want to know about online communities, email titscommittee@gmail.com.

New ALDI Grocery Plans June 23 Grand Opening

BY KENNETH BOOKS

The new ALDI supermarket is nearing its grand opening and, according to ALDI Loxley Division Vice President Heather Moore, Niceville ain't seen nothing yet.

"The first U.S. ALDI store opened in 1976," Moore said, "and we've since expanded to 2,200 stores across 38 states. She said the ALDI business model is "intentionally different, from our unique business model rooted in simplicity and efficiency to our thoughtful store layouts."

Niceville, of course, has no shortage of groceries, with Walmart, Publix, Winn-Dixie and Grocery Outlet. But Moore says ALDI specializes in products that won't be found in many other stores. "More than 90 percent of our store consists of ALDI-exclusive products," she said, adding that about one-third of them have won awards. She also promises that ALDI's prices will be affordable. "In fact, the Dunnhumby Retailer Preference Index Report has ranked ALDI No. 1 on price for five years running," she said. "We know preferences vary across the country, which is why approximately 5 to 10 percent of the products in each store are regional items."

One unusual feature of ALDI stores is the 25-cent deposit needed to obtain a shopping cart. The idea is to encourage shoppers to return the cart to get their quarter back. It also charges for shopping bags to cut down on costs and urges shoppers to bring their own bags – or to purchase an ALDI bag to preserve natural resources.

Moore said ALDI selected Niceville for its newest store mainly because the location was convenient and can support a high traffic volume. The nearest other ALDI is in Navarre.

One area that may be interesting to shoppers is the "ALDI Finds" aisle, Moore said, which features limited-time, specialty items ranging from unique foods and home goods to unexpected finds like gardening essentials and pet accessories. New products are released each week and are typically tied to a theme or season, she said.

Market Volatility Continues

It has been quite a different year for investors. Investments can be classified in a few main categories: 1) Financial: stocks, bonds or cash; 2) Real: real estate, 3) Alternative: gold, bitcoin, commodities and 4) Personal: jewelry or perhaps collectibles.

War, rising interest rates and bond yields and inflation have had major impacts on asset prices. Stocks are down 10 percent YTD, bonds are down 10 percent. However, cash (based upon yields only) has climbed to approximately .25 percent from at or near zero at the start of the year. Bitcoin has had an increasing amount of volatility and commodities for the most part have rallied.

What is Driving the Volatility?

Uncertainty over the short term has traditionally added a lot to volatility for most asset classes. While a long-term perspective (in line with an investor's risk tolerance, investment objective or goal and time frame) offers the best approach, in our opinion, the volatility can lead to a lot of concern for investors.

The big three are 1) the horrific war in Ukraine and the fallout; 2) rising rates and their impact on the economy and earnings; and 3) inflation (at a four-decade high).

The war has brought uncertainty to grain supplies, specialty gasses and minerals and metals, oil and gas as well as impacts to world security. It has meant strong short-term returns for defense stocks but has added to inflation and overall uncertainty.

Rising rates have continued to affect growth-oriented stocks (technology for example) as well as the current value of bonds. Rising rates mean bond prices have fallen. Rising rates are also affecting the mortgage lending market as long-term mortgage rates crossed 5 percent for the first time in more than a decade.

Inflation has continued to increase with the latest CPI reading of 8.5 percent. This is a rate not seen in over four decades. That impacts yields, earnings, cost of borrowing and the potential value of the dollar (although the dollar is up over 5 percent YTD).

What Might Bring Inflation Down?

In our view, housing costs could be slowing and the main reason for that is rising mortgage rates. Housing accounts for approximately 40 percent of CPI. That is not to mean the growth of housing as an investment but rather something called the Owner Equivalent Rent of an owned home. As housing values grew (over 18 percent in 2021 for example) that had a major impact on CPI.

We now consider this: Mortgage rates have climbed from the low 3s to over 5 percent in a few short months. The cost to borrow is higher and that cost is starting to squeeze out would be buyers. The Washington Times reported recently that when rates crossed 5 percent, over 10 million would-be homebuyers would be pushed out of the borrowing market. That is because the rates to borrow and or amount they can borrow worked against their ability to quality. We also consider so called demand destruction: As an asset climbs in cost, demand goes down. The cost to build (materials and labor) as well as inventory are beginning to work against housing prices and that, we believe, will have a mitigating effect on inflation. We agree with a lot of what we see and hear: Inflation is likely to move to 5 percent or lower by year's end, mainly due to housing.

The Fed Raising Rates

We learned at the start of the year that 2022 was the year of "Don't Fight the Fed," according to Global X, a provider of exchange traded funds. The action of the Federal Reserve on two main fronts are of importance to investors: 1) raising the Federal Funds rate (currently at .25 percent) in May as well as perhaps in June, July and at other intervals for the remainder of the year and 2) The Fed's balance sheet. That has a significant impact on the supply of money or liquidity in the economy. The Fed is yet to start reducing that (it is approaching $9 trillion). We understand the Fed intends to start reducing that in June. Fewer dollars could also have a mitigating effect on inflation as well. We think the balance sheet has greater impact than raising rates.

Where Might Markets be Headed

Predictions we believe take a back seat to objectives, time frame and risk tolerance. While equities and real estate have historically outperformed most other assets classes as well as inflation, their returns have not been uniform. Timing the markets is not a strategy but time in the markets we think is a strategy. According to Jim Cramer of CNBC, panic is not a strategy either. Expectations and hope have not factored in to achieving investment goals or targets either. Timing, conviction, and patience have proven to serve investors well in our view.

According to Ibbotson, Morningstar (data from Raymond James) large cap stocks (which make up 70 percent of market value) have returned 10.5 percent from 1926 to 2021. That includes reinvested dividends as opposed to dividends taken in cash. Government bonds have averaged 5.5 percent, Treasury bills (close to cash) 3.3 percent and inflation 2.9 percent.

Many institutions suggest that investors might anticipate lower returns on equities (stocks) over the next decade. Vanguard (vanguard.com) recently suspected that U.S. equities might return just 3.3 percent over the next decade. They feel at this point that global (non USA) equities could fare better at 6.2 percent. See their website for greater detail.

Valuations are always important for investors to note. Most would agree that valuations (costs) of many investments, such as stocks, are high. That means for valuations to come down, stocks would have to continue to sell off or earnings would need to rise. It is important to note, at least at this writing, that U.S. companies continue to report strong earnings and strong growth.

Headwinds and Tailwinds

Goldman Sachs recently commented on inflation's direction and pointed more toward tailwinds for decreased inflation with three main points: 1) slowing growth of energy costs 2) slowing growth of wage costs (unretirements have been reversing the great resignation with 55+ year olds and hence a greater labor pool, lowering wage pressures) and 3) rising mortgage rates slowing the cost of housing (a major component of CPI as noted earlier).

While the world and the markets are climbing a wall of uncertainty, investors and would-be investors might want to review and update their goals and strategies. We believe this should be done at least annually and that investments should be reviewed at least quarterly. When goals, time frames or risk tolerances change, a plan matching those should be developed and implemented.

Inflation May Be Leaving You More Underinsured

BY JOE CAPERS,
INSURANCE ZONE

For the past year or so, Florida property owners have learned about the many factors that caused our insurance premiums to increase at unprecedented levels. This is true in all lines of insurance, but primarily with insurance for residential and commercial property. There are multiple reasons for the state of the insurance marketplace, but two of the biggest driving forces are storm activity over the past few years and the overwhelming number of claims that end up in lawsuits.

A recent statistic from the National Association of Insurance Commissioners (NAIC) showed that Florida homeowners' claims represent 8 percent of the nation's total claims; however, Florida has more than 76 percent of the lawsuits related to homeowners' claims in the entire nation. Just when we did not think things would get worse, inflation enters the arena, and puts even more pressure on rates. Inflation also must be considered when determining the adequate amount of coverage to replace your structure and personal property.

In economics, inflation refers to a general progressive increase in prices of goods and services in an economy. When the general price level rises, each unit of currency buys fewer goods and services; consequently, inflation corresponds to a reduction in the purchasing power of money. There's no denying that inflation like we haven't seen in decades is on the rise. All you need to do is go to the local grocery or hardware store or fill up your gas tank and you will feel the pinch.

The cost of residential and commercial construction is also skyrocketing due to inflation, and this could spell trouble for homeowners and business owners. Increases in the cost of lumber and other building materials, in conjunction with continued supply chain issues and labor shortages, could leave many homeowners underinsured if they need to rebuild after a covered insurance claim.

Should disaster strike, homeowners without enough coverage could find themselves digging into their savings to cover the shortfall. Now is the time to be certain you have enough insurance to pay the cost of what it would take to rebuild your home or building, also known as replacement cost. Here's what you need to know.

Insurers use replacement cost calculators to determine how much structural coverage is needed to rebuild your home or business investment. Information about your building, such as its square footage, quality of construction materials and the year of construction or upgrades, are all factored into the estimated replacement cost.

You can also take steps to determine the replacement cost on your own. One method involves multiplying your home's square footage by the current cost of construction per square foot in your area. You can get an idea of per square foot building costs by calling the builders association in your area, a licensed appraiser, or a local contractor. Most estimates will range from $200 to $300 per square foot, but in our area we have had some suggested amounts around $500 per square foot and more. We just learned that one of the premium writers of homeowners in our state will be adopting CCI (Construction Cost Index) as replacement for the Inflation

Guard Endorsement on its HO3 policies. CCI provides a more precise method for adjusting dwelling limits annually based on true changes in cost of construction vs. the straight-line increase used in the Inflation Guard endorsement.

To make sure you have the appropriate coverage, talk to an agent about your homeowners or commercial policies. They are willing to help you understand what you have and what you need based on the replacement cost. Protecting your assets and your retirement funds from losses you wouldn't otherwise be able to financially afford is what insurance is about. Making sure you have the correct amount of coverage can be the difference between rebuilding your entire structure versus a partial rebuild. You have the ultimate decision in choosing your limit for coverages, such as those for dwelling or personal property. Your insurance agent is here to assist you with making sure your coverage keeps up with the increasing cost to repair, replace or rebuild the home.

As a consumer, you may want to see if a recent evaluation of the replacement cost of your home or structure has been done. You may request that this be updated. Based on what you learn, choose a limit that provides peace of mind and can help you protect against catastrophic loss.

The bottom line, when it comes to insuring your home, is this: don't skimp on the coverages, look carefully at your renewal policy, and address any coverage deficiencies you may have, and always let your agent know about any upgrades and remodeling you've done to your home. We recommend an annual review of your property insurance program because life happens and circumstances change.

Sean of the South

BY SEAN DIETRICH

I hung an American flag on our house today. We just moved in. We have only been living in Birmingham for three days, but I thought it was time we flew the Stars and Stripes.

This house dates back to 1923, so this porch has probably seen its share of flags.

When Lindbergh flew across the pond, a flag whipped from these columns. When the Depression hit, and people stood in 10-mile breadlines, there was a flag here. When the kid who grew up in this old house went off to join a global war, and died in Europe, Old Glory was flying from the eaves.

So I went to the hardware store to buy a flag.

“Yeah, we got flags,” said 80-year-old hardware store employee, Steadman. “But I tell you right upfront,” he added, “flying a flag ain’t cheap.”

I thought Steadman was speaking poetically, but as it turned out, he was speaking from his wallet. Flags cost a small fortune.

First there was the oak flagpole ($35.99), then the mounting hardware ($29.99), the flag hooks ($4.99 apiece), the masonry screws ($8.99), the masonry drill bit ($19.99), and of course, the flag itself ($69.99). For those keeping tally, that’s a grand total of $154.94. It would have been cheaper just to get a flag tattooed on my forehead.

But the American flag speaks to me. I wish I could give you some high-minded patriotic reason for why I spent hours hanging the Star Spangled Banner from my house, I wish I could be ultra poetic and tell you what a great citizen I am. But I’m not a poet. And my reasons are much more low-rent than that.

I just really like American flags.

I love being American. When I was young, people my age were hellbent on traveling to Europe to become internationally conscious. I was so jealous of my friend, Justin, who studied journalism in college. He visited Spain, Portugal, and France on a student exchange program. In one year he traveled through Europe, Nepal, Thailand, India, and (Why not?) Greenland.

Me? I couldn’t afford college. And the farthest from home I’d ever been was Texarkana.

So my lack of travel made me feel bad about myself. I counted myself as a failure. I was a dropout and a roughneck who lived in a doublewide and could hardly afford a McRib sandwich, let alone a holiday in Barcelona.

But that all changed one summer when I made a decision. I told myself, hey, so what if I couldn’t see the globe, I live in a pretty great country, and I was going to see America.

So that’s what I did.

I was 18 when I drove to the Grand Canyon in my truck. I slept in a tent hammock for four weeks, hiking and eating dangerous amounts of pinto beans. I wandered isolated trails on the canyon’s North Rim.

One morning at sunrise, I strolled to Point Imperial, the highest point on the North Rim. I arrived just as the orange sun was peeking above the craggy canyon horizon.

That’s when I noticed someone had shoved a lone American flag into a crevice of rock, right on the canyon’s edge. It was a massive flag, flapping loudly, like a flock of geese getting ready to take flight. I have no idea what the flag was doing there, but it was an impressive sight.

In a brief moment, my heart swelled with inexplicable pride. I was thinking to myself, I might never see Montreux, or Bangkok, or Bordeaux, but I am American, and that’s enough.

My ponytailed ancestors brandished Flintlock muskets and knee breeches. They tossed tea into the Boston Harbor and spit in the king’s eye. They died so I could stand right here, right now, and feel the exact way I was feeling Proud.

Then it occurred to me that although I would probably never become a college student, or a poet, or a great thinker, or a seasoned traveler, big freaking deal. That didn’t mean I wasn’t lucky. I was. I was American, and that’s lucky enough.

There are 44 million Ukrainians right now who are ravaged by the hell of war, meanwhile I live in a jacuzzi of luxury. If that’s not lucky, I don’t care to know what is.

You and I come from a country that fosters artists, thinkers, poets, craftsmen, and saints. People who left an indelible mark on the world. Such geniuses as John Singer Sargent, Satchel Paige, Flannery O’Connor, Samuel Clemens, Fred Rogers, Fanny Crosby, Harriet Tubman, Jack London, Norman Rockwell, Charles Kuralt, and of course, Gary Larson.

So today I stood on a ladder and I honored them. I held a cordless drill and paid tribute to my forefathers and foremothers.

After I had mounted the flag I stood back to appreciate my handiwork. A few kids on bikes stopped to watch. A sudden wind gust blew in. Our nation’s colors were immediately unfurled, and in a dramatic moment, the kids stood silent in slack-jawed admiration. Finally, one of the children said reverently, “I think it’s crooked.”

Like the man said, flying a flag ain’t cheap.

Happy Father’s Day, Sean!

Happy Father’s Day to my brother. I know he’s not my father, but when my father passed away, my brother took on the role of taking care of me. He was there for me to lean on. He taught me how to drive. Walked me down the aisle when I got married. Gave me my first camera. He took the time to help me. Sean is a humble, kind heart. He’d never speak a word of all the sacrifices he made for me. I love him so much, and he deserves a happy Father’s Day from me. He’s more than just my brother. I’m so grateful my girls get to know him. Thank you for everything you’ve been to me

A Pastor's Ponderings: The Fundamentals of Fathers, Fathering and Fatherhood

BY PASTOR DOUG STAUFFER

Father's Day alert: June 19. Mother's Day, in its formative years, garnered much more enthusiasm and support than the establishment of Father's Day. Understandably so! In the early 1900s, fathers felt the celebration was questionable because fathers were generally footing the bill for their sentimental holiday. Florists certainly had no reason to support a day for fathers.

Many Americans wanted to respect mothers and fathers on the same day, calling it "Parent's Day." The Great Depression and World War II derailed those efforts. So, mothers and fathers have separate days of recognition. Like most holidays, commercialization took over, with retailers now netting more than $15 billion a year—capitalism at its best!

Society needs fathers to assume their God-given roles enthusiastically. When a man becomes a father, responsibilities exponentially multiply. Here are some fundamentals for good fathering:

1. Function as a man – society (especially Hollywood) has been increasingly undermining manhood and manliness. Act manly without any misogynist tendencies;

2. Be a man honored to carry that Y chromosome that conspicuously differentiates between the sexes;

3. Take responsibility as a man; "I was wrong" and "I am sorry" are two precious phrases children should hear from their fathers;

4. Think like a man (the Bible says it is a sin to act effeminate – 1 Corinthians 6:9);

5. Work like a man (no reflection on how women work; some women outperform men with drive, dedication and grit). Working like a man means never shying away from breaking a sweat or getting your hands dirty.

6. Lead by example; it is never wise to teach your children, "Do as I say, and not as I do." Hypocrisy destroys credibility, and integrity forms an unbreakable bond. Children need to know that their fathers are trustworthy.

Fathers should teach their sons simple things like opening a door for a woman. This act has nothing to do with being a male chauvinist. My parents taught me that this courtesy reflects honor and respect for the opposite sex, whom we should highly esteem.

Societal influences (and Hollywood characterizations) seem poised to undermine fatherhood. Yet, one who is not a good man can never be a good father. Thank God we have good men, yet we can always use a few more!

Happy Father's Day to every dad! An additional thank you to all the outstanding fatherly examples. Let's extend the wishes from all dads to include: granddads, great granddads, step-dads, adoptive dads, foster dads, dads-to-be, dads in heaven and all the males in our lives who care for us and unconditionally love us. Dads are priceless, and we should always love them dearly. (Remember, mothers, no exclusion intended—you had your day last month).

We were just blessed to have my father visit for a week. The day after he flew back to Pennsylvania, he fell and broke his hip. One day later, he had a partial hip replacement and was transferred to rehab. Be sure to appreciate the time you spend with your father; time has a way of sneaking up on us. Happy Father's Day!

Dr. Doug Stauffer is pastor of Faith Independent Baptist Church. He was saved July 6, 1980, in Niceville, while stationed at the 33rd Tactical Fighter Wing at Eglin Air Force Base and has now been in the ministry for over 35 years. He has written 20 books including the best selling "One Book" trilogy ("One Book Rightly Divided, One Book Stands Alone, One Book One Authority"); along with several devotionals ("Daily Strength" series); and prophecy books ("Reviving the Blessed Hope, When the End Begins").

Local Author Receives Prestigious Award

Local author, Ellen Fannon of Valparaiso is the recipient of the 2022 Christian Indie Publishing Award for her second novel, Save the Date. Save the Date is the humorous story of Hannah Jensen, a widow raising a teenaged daughter, who hasn't been back to her hometown in more than 20 years. When she receives an invitation to her 25th high school reunion, it triggers memories of her own teenaged years. She dreams about rekindling the flame with her first love, her high school sweetheart, while at the same time, she dreads running into a clique of mean girls who made her life miserable.

The story interweaves the present—including Hannah's loneliness, the challenges of single-parenting a teenager, people who want to "set her up" with eligible men, her own insecurities, and her eccentric family—with scenes from Hannah's past and her fantasy of "happily ever after" with her high school boyfriend in a humorous and entertaining manner. Her feelings of being "shunned" by the cool kids resurface as she reflects back on her time as a teenager. There are several roadblocks on Hannah's journey from a teenager through her present. The growing pains and amusing situations in which she finds herself are ones to which we all can relate. As she walks the path of self-discovery, she also discovers the most important life lesson of all—her relationship to God.

Creating Your Atmosphere

Meet Diane Stallings, Local Pianist

We continuously encounter music most every day of our life, whether consciously or not. But, we more consciously hone in on our music preferences when celebrating special occasions. Whether it be an anniversary celebration, an elegant wine dinner, a wedding, a festive Christmas party, a special corporate event, or having an in-home dinner party, music should be central. Whatever the occasion, helping people create the appropriate atmosphere through music for their special occasion is the purpose of the music behind Diane Stallings.

Diane majored in piano music education for almost three years before transferring to the University of Georgia. Continuously honing her music skills, she has musically served in various keyboard capacities over the years, not to mention specializing as a beginner piano music teacher. And, little by little, Diane has found herself gravitating into a variety of arenas.

Consequently, the experience within these arenas has inspired and motivated her to expand her repertoire, gradually equipping her with an ever-widening variety of music. On top of that, technology has now afforded Diane the ability to instantly access unlimited digital songs. She can easily accommodate customers' personal song preferences for any special occasion – whether utilizing the piano, digital technology format, or an integration of both.

Are you looking to add an extra sparkle to your wedding, dinner party, corporate function or special occasion? There's nothing quite as classic and classy as hiring a pianist. Diane has her own equipment and will usually arrive about an hour prior to set up.

To book Diane for your special event or occasion, contact her at 850.714.1158 or diane.ccf@gmail.com.

Four Rotary Clubs and Community Pull Together To Raise Funds at Inaugural Fire Truck Pull

Four Rotary Clubs and community organizations from Okaloosa County pulled together recently to raise more than $15,000 for a major project at Twin Cities Pavilion in Niceville. The Community Fire Truck Pull attracted 16 10-person teams who paid $250 to see who could pull a fire truck 50 feet in the fastest time. Funds raised will be used to refurbish the TCP's front entrance area used by residents for sitting and relaxing outdoors.

East Niceville Fire Rescue provided the fire truck, with local fire departments teaming up to run the competition itself. Playing host was 3rd Planet

Brewing and Bay Area Awards donated the winners' trophies and team medallions. The Rotary Clubs of Mid-Bay Bridge, Niceville/Valparaiso, Destin and Fort Walton Beach, along with the Knights of Columbus from Christ Our Redeemer and Holy Name Catholic churches, supported the effort with donations, planning and staffing. Crosspoint Church in Niceville donated generously to the cause and Advance Concrete Supply committed to donating the upcoming concrete work.

Winning teams received trophies and the "pullers" took home individual medallions. The brewery provided cash or gift cards to the top three teams.

The event came about when Mid-Bay Rotarian Bob Hoffman identified the TCP's need for porch resurfacing and contacted additional Rotaries in Okaloosa County. The idea then expanded to other service groups. A local concrete resurfacing company offered to do the concrete work at no cost. The Rotary clubs maintained their funding pledges, because the awning over the porch needed to be repaired, sandblasted and painted. However, more money was needed, so, the community groups led by Hoffman as chair agreed to sponsor the fire truck pull also.

"It was great to see how many organizations came together for the planning and execution of the pull," said Steve Wolfrom, Mid-Bay Bridge Rotary president. "Identifying a need, rallying community support and pulling off the event is the direct result of the organizations working together. Our goal was met. But, I think the model put together to do a fun community event can be repeated in our area in the future."
